Odd mono

Version
001

Odd mono is an experiment in bigrams (two letter combinations) and trigrams (two letter combinations).
 We have pulled together the most common bigrams & trigrams to make discretionary ligatures with unique characters for each set resulting in a staggering 2700+ characters in total.

Fun, surprising and weird!

Odd mono

Lets take a moment to understand what the fuck Odd Mono is. Oddmono is a deeply confronting and profoundly frustrating mono spaced display typeface. It is designed to embrace spontaneity and push against normality.

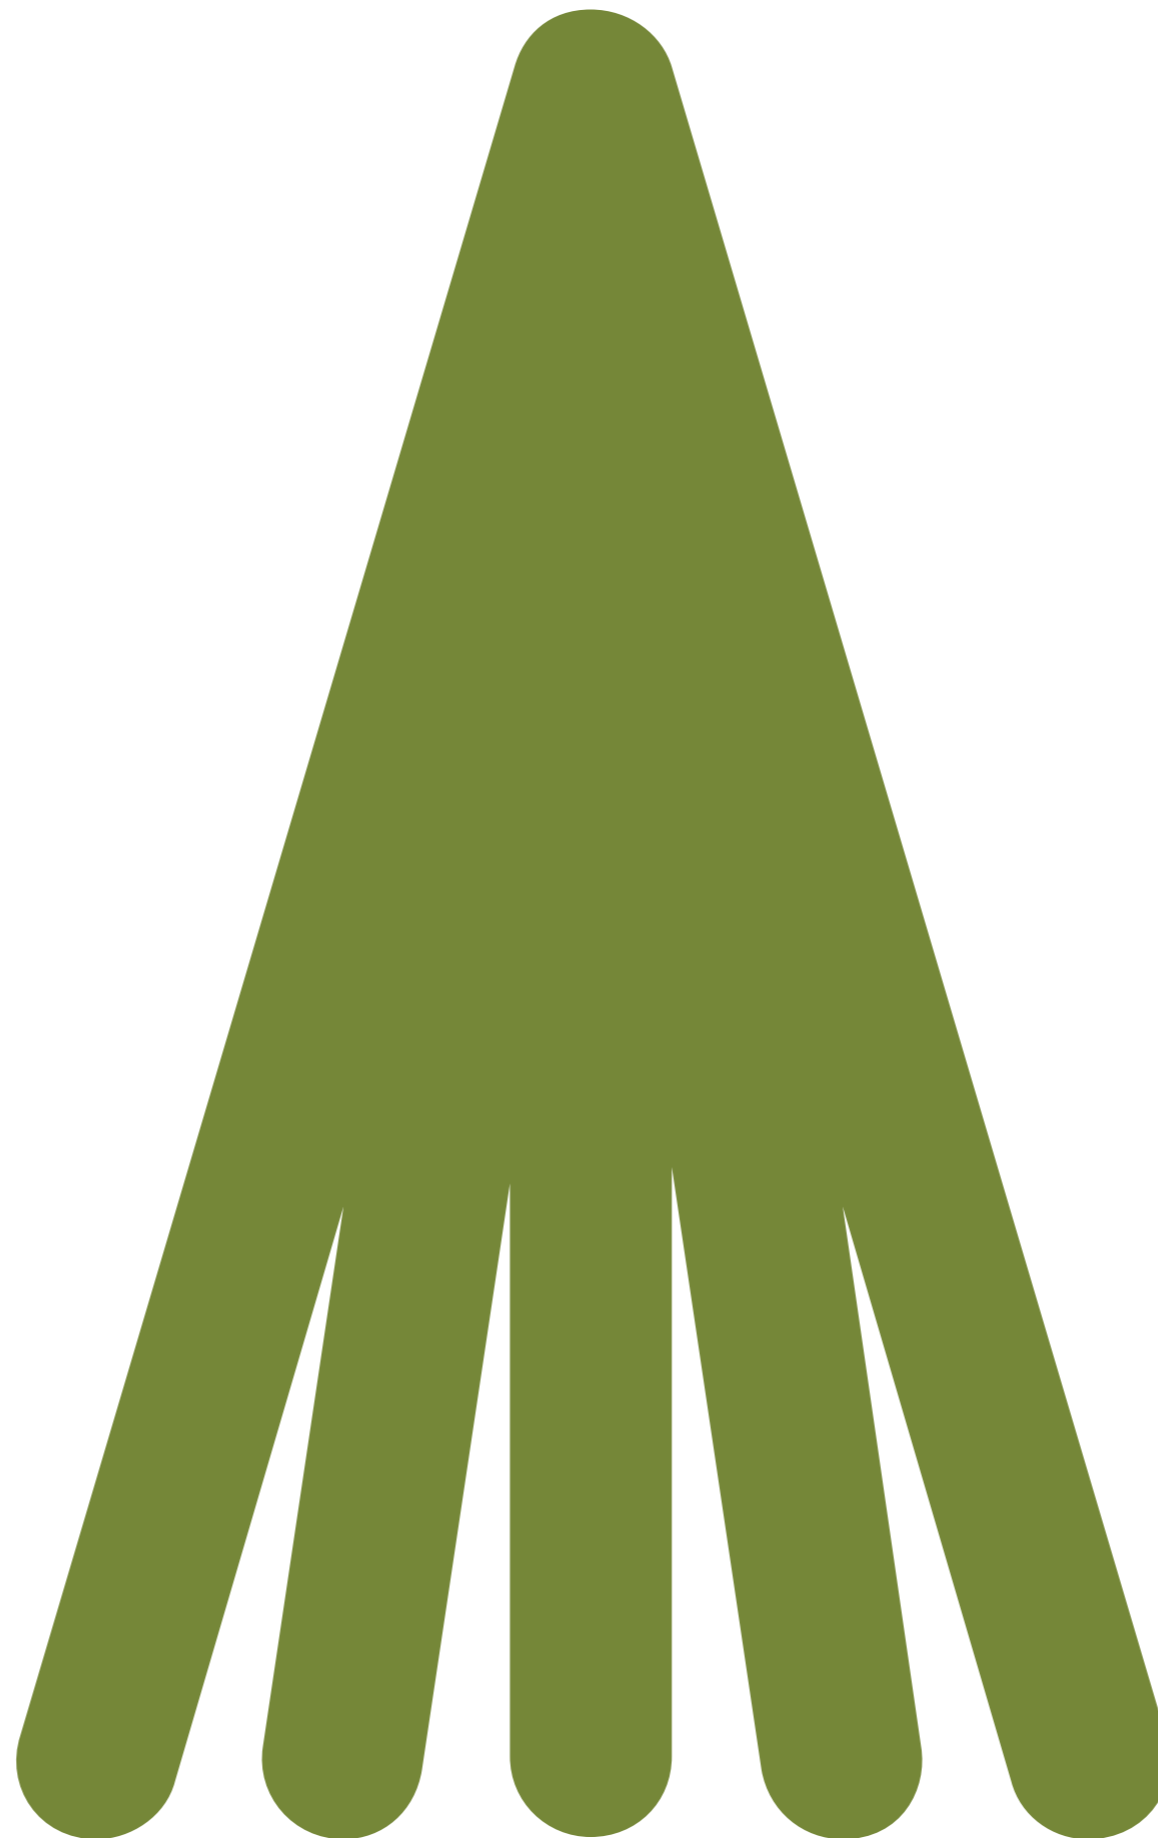

Out of the box the typeface works - but turn on the standard ligatures and discretionary ligatures and Odd Mono becomes a different beast.

In addition to ligatures we have 20 different stylesets to choose from or to combine. Each style set has different characters within them. Our suggestion is to switch on the "Normal" styleset first - this style set is the most pragmatic version of Odd mono. From there select one or more of the 19 additional stylesets to layer them on top of one another and create your own unique version of Odd mono

Lastly we have to mention the contextual alternatives. Selecting this feature will mean that when a letter occurs more than once in a word it will swap it for another version of that same letter.

Oddmono is Hard to tame so surrender to the unknown and embrace the weirdness.

The album cover shows the Beatles with their arms positioned to spell out a word in flag semaphore. According to cover photographer Robert Freeman, "I had the idea of semaphore spelling out the letters 'HELP'. But when we came to do the shot, the arrangement of the arms with those letters didn't look good. So we decided to improvise and ended up with the best graphic positioning of the arms."

On the UK Parlophone release, the letters formed by the Beatles appear to be "NUJ", whilst the slightly re-arranged US release on Capitol Records appeared to indicate the letters "NVU", with McCartney's left hand pointing to the Capitol logo. The Capitol LP was issued in a "deluxe" gatefold sleeve with several photos from the film and was priced $1 more than
